

Concept Question 9-3: A time-varying spectrum is a contradiction in terms. What does a spectrogram actually compute?

A spectrogram segments a signal into intervals, applies a data window to each window, and computes the spectrum of each segment. A spectrogram is a set of spectra of segments of signals displayed next to each other.